Ridgeway Road Watermain Replacement Project

The Town of Fort Erie has initiated the engineering design phase for the Ridgeway Road Watermain Replacement Project. The project area extends approximately 430 metres along Ridgeway Road, from Roxborough Avenue in the north to Graeber Avenue in the south.

The scope of work includes the full reconstruction of the existing roadway, including the replacement and installation of watermain, sanitary sewer, and storm sewer infrastructure. The project will also include the replacement of water and sanitary service connections to the property line, as well as the construction of new sidewalks, and concrete curb and gutter throughout the project limits.

The project is being undertaken to address aging infrastructure, with construction currently scheduled to begin in late summer 2026.

Public consultation of the proposed design and getting feedback is an important component of the project. Public consultation for the Ridgeway Road Watermain Replacement will be conducted online through the Town's website. This online viewing is being held to provide interested parties with an opportunity to review the design and construction plans. This is a pre-approved Schedule A+ Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (MCEA) project. Those who wish to comment on the project will have an opportunity to contact the Project Team and discuss issues related to the project. The design drawings will be available for viewing and comment from:

Monday, June 15th, 2026 to Friday, June 26th, 2026
